

ARMED AND READY AT ANY HOUR, HITLER SHOUTS

UKRAINE, RUSSIA, SIBERIA, AND SPRE. COVETOUS SPEECH

NUREMBERG, Sept. 14.—Germany is well armed and ready to defend a miracle—"The miracle of its own resurrection"—Chancellor Hitler told 150,000 unarmored Nazis and 50,000 spectators in a ceremonial tribute to Great War dead yesterday.

Let no one be deceived at any hour," he shouted. "We are ready at any hour."

CHURCH BELLS TOLL
The distant tolling of church bells emphasized Hitler's words as speaking in the huge Ludwigsplatz square, he dismissed with a flourish the material achievements of the regime—road building and claimed reduction in unemployment.

"Our miracle, however, was resurrection of a humiliated people," Hitler said. "That miracle consisted not in the fact that one German (Hitler) who believed in the resurrection, but that millions followed him and went the same way."

"That I found you, that you bore with me all these years—that was Germany's great good fortune," Hitler said.

Emphasizing the 1935 unemployment, he said before him were only an extremely small percentage of his 2,500,000 storm troopers, his 22,000 black uniforms "S.S." men, not to mention the regular army members. Hitler asked:

"Who can oppose this bloc of racial determination?"
"Our old enemy, Bolshevism, has still active around her borders."
"But let us not be deceived. We are ready at any hour. We all have one to maintain peace—but with it goes one firm decision: never to surrender Germany to Bolshevism. We have come to know to well."

EYES ON UKRAINE
Yesterday, in a speech before youths of the Labor front, Hitler contrasted Germany's poverty of natural resources with the riches of Russia in minerals and farm lands, and said that if the Reich had the Urals, the Ukraine and Siberia "we could create a paradise on earth."

The Chancellor did not say Germany had an intention of trying to take these territories by force, nor did he indicate he expected Germany would inherit any of them.

In the second of his speeches referring particularly to Russia, Hitler declared:

"We must look after the welfare of 60,000,000 people."
"Bolshevism and Jews excite the chafe in Russia by saying they had war and revolution. We had war, too, we stood against 26 nations."
"Destroying everything in revolution might have given us an opportunity to ask yes, in noble discipline, to set yourself the task of building it all up again."

CHIDES RUSSIA
"But I was determined to destroy nothing. Ours was a revolution of discipline for improvement of life."
"We have work for generations to come. With tremendous effort we reclaim a few thousands of acres from swamp and sea, and yet too hold the Bolshevist Jew who, with 10 times more soil than Germany, are still unable to feed Russia."

"Such colossal failures they turned out to be."
"If we had the Urals with their incredible wealth of raw materials, if we possessed Siberia with its vast forests, if we had the Ukraine with its great wheat fields, National Socialist Germany would be swimming in surplus prosperity."

"Instead of being obliged to fight."

SLOVAKIA GOAL OF HITLER, SAYS MOSCOW PAPER

Will Share Territory With Hungary, Pravda Declares

MOSCOW, Sept. 14.—Czechoslovakia, the Communist newspaper Pravda charged today, will be the next goal of Germany's army.

Ignoring the attack upon Bolshevism by Chancellor Hitler in speeches at Nuremberg, Pravda outlines what it asserted were the Nazi dictator's immediate plans—abolition of the subjugation and partition of Czechoslovakia in order to open a road toward Russia.

NEXT IN PLANS
Czechoslovakia because of her geographical position, figures next in Hitler's plan, the newspaper charged. "The German plan is to liquidate the barrier that lies in the way of the Soviet Union in order to clear the road for a drive against the Soviet Union."

The newspaper declared the campaign was designed to weaken Czechoslovakia internally and that it already was under way in conjunction with Hungary, with whom, it was charged, the Nazis plan to share the territory if they can obtain it.

NAZIS AT WORK
"Nazis are at work through the information bureau, trying to drive a wedge between the Czechs and Poles and at the same time working German military and police units where they are forming semi-military organizations expected to do their part when aggression starts."

"At the same time Germans are storing vast munitions and military equipment underground along the frontiers of Czechoslovakia," the Communist newspaper continued.

LONDON, Sept. 14.—Great Britain must do everything it can to prevent a war between Germany and Russia, "Scrutator" writes in the Sunday Times.

"From that war it is our duty to save Europe by all the practical and moral means and political inequity with which we are generally credited," says the writer.

Marrying Mayor
OGDEN, Utah, Sept. 14.—Mayor Harold W. Perry of Ogden plans to find anyone unmarried a mate before the marriage free, and to perform the ceremony for a fee building permit.

"For very life, we could create a paradise on earth," Hitler told how desperately Germany must struggle to overcome raw material shortages.

"They say we have no copper. In four years we will be producing our own copper. They say we have no rubber. In four years we will get our rubber. They say we have no oil. In four years we will be getting all our gasoline from our own oil fields."

"Instead of being obliged to fight."

AMUSEMENTS

RIALTO
Two women—one worldly, one still living in her dream! Four men—two of them, trying to get a love and a lover! These personalities clash and clash again, in Columbia's stirring romantic drama, "Lady of Secrets," now at the Rialto Theatre.

Ruth Chatterton, the screen's premier star, plays the role of a girl who defies the tragedy of dishonor. Fleeing the prison of her memories for one last grasp at happiness, she fights for a chance to live and love today—tomorrow, and to banish forever her yesterday.

A truly great love story demanded a great cast, so Otto Kruger, Lionel Atwill, Marian Marsh, Lloyd Nolan and Robert Allen were assigned to the leading roles in support of the star, Miss Chatterton.

"From that war it is our duty to save Europe by all the practical and moral means and political inequity with which we are generally credited," says the writer.

PRINCESS
Ordinarily, when an apparently sane man begins trying to walk through the walls of his living room, or utterly disregarding the formalities of entering it, his family assumes a worried expression.

But when handsome Robert Donat begins attempting to indulge in the privileges usually reserved for "punks," his intimate says no more for alarm. They simply rushed for the first aid kit and applied arnica and bandages to his bruised face. They knew it was simply for the shooting of "The Ghost Goes West."

Robert Donat, who played the role of a truly astounding romantic comedy at the Prince's Theatre, the handsome star who plays the title role, had become accustomed to passing through solid objects with the greatest ease.

LOVERS OF MUSIC GET FINE TREAT
Music-lovers of the city were afforded a memorable treat on Sunday night, when, by invitation, they viewed a private showing of the mighty Republic Pictures production "Follow Your Heart," starring Marion Taylor, former Metropolitan Opera soprano and Michael Bartlett, tenor.

Here is a worthy addition to the successful and ever-growing list of high class musical productions given by the screen by Hollywood.

Her coloratura singing this year has never been heard to better advantage and it far exceeds her speaking voice.

Mr. Bartlett will be remembered as the tenor who supported Grace Moore in her famous "Love Me Forever" and who sang with Miss Moore much of the first act of "La Bohème."

Special music has been contributed to "Follow Your Heart" by Victor Schertzinger, who composed "Marie," as well as the "Love Me Forever" and who sang with Miss Taylor and Michael Bartlett are supported by an excellent cast.

The scenes are laid in the far south and the whole is a beautiful production, which is bound to score a genuine triumph when it plays a regular engagement at the Rialto in the near future.

CANADA MOVES FORWARD SAYS KING, SAILING

Points to Success of Fiscal Policies in Year of Office

QUEBEC, Sept. 14.—Before sailing for Geneva aboard the liner Empress of Britain Premier Mackenzie King said:

"During the past few weeks, the cabinet has disposed of many matters of important public business with which they are being confronted with the several countries with which they are being negotiated has been reviewed and steps taken to bring them nearer completion. The situation in Western Canada has received careful attention and a comprehensive program has been formulated to cope with it."

HOUSING SCHEME
The government has announced that, in collaboration with the National Government Commission, it will seek the co-operation of the provinces and the municipalities in a new nationwide housing scheme.

"The proposed program will be on a much broader basis than that contemplated in the Dominion Housing Act, 1935, and will serve to provide new or improved homes for those of limited resources and as well to create useful employment for a large number of people."

The administration has named its representative on the board of directors of the Bank of Canada and is now assured of effective control of the Central Bank.

NEW RADIO SERVICE
The appointment of the board of governors of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation marks the beginning of a new form of national broadcasting service in Canada.

It is not a year since the present government came into office. It is gratifying to note that the fiscal policies which have been introduced since the beginning of the present year, have, in so short a time, served to effect a substantial improvement in the general economic condition of the country.

Canada is gradually recovering her former position among the great trading nations of the world, with consequent beneficial effects upon the primary industries, transportation and the purchasing power of the people as a whole."

STARK REPEATS TRIUMPH IN 1936

LOOKING THEM OVER

By

Roughriders' Win Surprises Regina
Fans As Well as East—
Indians Pride of East

When word of Regina Roughriders' 8-7 win over the mighty Winnipeg, Dominion grid champions, was received for 15 straight games, came over the press wire and out of the family radio over the week-end it was just about as amazing as the Winnipeg's victory in the Dominion final last fall. If you had just heard that Holland had declared war on Germany and had captured Berlin it would be hardly less amazing. After the Winnipeg club bringing the Dominion title west last fall and then building a much stronger machine for the defence of it, prairie fans figured the western season would be just a parade for the Manitobans.

And even the Regina fans themselves were just as much surprised at their victory as the rest of the country. On the eve of the game, Dave Dryburgh, sports editor of the Leader-Post, admitted in his column that it would be almost impossible to find any Regina money that would say the Riders could take Winnipeg. "Plenty of us are hoping, but that is about all," Dave concluded.

However an analysis of the game puts the result in a little different light than the score alone would give. The Roughriders were lucky in being able to block a kick, grab the loose ball and get over the line for a touchdown. Without that break they would have gone down to defeat. On the other hand though, the fact that it was not until the last quarter that Winnipeg were able to penetrate the Regina line for a touchdown would indicate that the Riders have a really powerful defensive club. If they can develop an attack as strong as their defence, then the real battle for the Canadian football championship may be fought out right here on the prairies.

Indians Hope of East

At present the experts in eastern Canada seem to be pretty well agreed that the Montreal Indians are the gridgers who will carry the hopes of the east into the Dominion final. Under Ferraro, Montreal has set out to build a championship team just as Winnipeg did and on paper it would appear that a very satisfactory job has been done. With Ferraro in the backfield will be the best of the Oiler's backfield. He will be quarterback, while in the line there will be such men as Pete Jokis, Tommy Buhna and George Pignon.

All the other eastern clubs appear at present to be weaker than they were last season, but helping any money on stars and past performances is a tricky business and the mighty Indians may lose their scalps and breechcloths before the season is over.

Montreal's chief hope centres on Ferraro, the Cornell star from Buffalo. He appears to have the fire and ability to make champions. In 1934 he piloted the Tigers to the title and is credited with being the spark plug of the Hamilton squad again last fall. The only weak looking spot in the Indian war party is that there are too many generals in the backfield. In addition to Ferraro, Elliott and Galt, there are veteran commanders. Generally have been known to fall all over each other in the depths of their strategy before now.

New York Wants Ritchie

At Ritchie, hockey and football member of Regina, whose Fala and Roughriders have made a lot of history, may go to New York to help Lester Patrick with his hockey problems, according to the Regina Leader-Post. Patrick wants Ritchie to help him in his bench manager of the Rangers. Al has asked for five months leave of absence from the postal department and if this is granted he will head for Madison Square Garden and Big Time hockey. Ritchie's loss will be a tough blow to Regina hockey, but he should be a mighty big help to Patrick.

Golf Meet Stars

Garden City Today

GARDEN CITY, N. Y., Sept. 14.—The annual Garden City course was shaved and groomed in preparation for the fourth United States amateur golf championship, which starts today.

There are 210 players, including eight former champions and 19 others from Canada and the British Isles competing for the crown awarded by Lawson Little, who will play the Canadian open title Saturday. The 36-hole round will be the first round, the others will meet tomorrow in 36 holes.

The field will be reduced to 120 after tomorrow's play. One 18-hole round will be played on Wednesday, and two more on Thursday, to reduce the field to 60. The semi-finalists will be the 30 and the final Saturday will be the 30-hole round.

If the gasoline manufactured 10 years ago were used in a modern engine, it would be as good as scrap, it is said.

A BEDTIME STORY

Story by HAL COCHRANE Pictures by GEORGE SCARBO

The Ekimko dogs seemed real strong. The Tines' long tied moved along at quite a rapid speed, and they all had a lot of fun.

"Hold tight," the Ekimko lad cried. "We do not want to spoil this ride with any spills. For hours and hours my two pet dogs can run."

And to the bunch it was a thrill. About a half an hour passed. Then were Duncy shouted, "Whoa!"

"From sitting still, my poor bones ache. Please stop this long ride for my sake. Unless I have a chance to stretch, no further can I go!"

Then Cappy said, "Gee, don't you mind the work of running long before? Why, I would think you'd tired out. You'd better take my place."

"I'll gladly run a little while, I ought to last at least a mile."

"Oh, I'm all right," the lad replied, a smile upon his face.

"You are, I've raced like this before, and I have lots of pep in store. Besides, I've got tired out, I will make the two dogs stop."

"All right," said Cappy. "You know the way, but make sure you need a rest, that you make both the dogs stop. Do not wait over day on, on they wait over day on."

The Ekimko lad said, "Okay, I will do anything you say." The next thing that the Tines knew, the sled was standing still.

All of the youngsters stretched a bit. "I still am feeling fit," the rest of you can get your rest until you've had your fill."

Just then a great big hot swooped near. "Oh, my, it's after me, I fear," exclaimed the Ekimko. "It's a monster gets, you see."

"I guess that she wants me back home, and no longer can I run." The bird then picked the sled up just as easy as could be.

(The Ekimko does run away from the Tines in the next story.)

Carbonic acid gas is a compound made up of one atom of carbon and two of oxygen. Inside the leaves of a tree, a part of the oxygen is set free, and escapes into the air, but the carbon combines with water and other elements in the soil, and plant food for the building of new wood is manufactured.

then tasted slowly to the landing. The disembarkation was like that of a ship. The passengers were taken to the ship. The passengers were taken to the ship. The passengers were taken to the ship.

CHAPTER VII
 KAY saw to it that Monte Blaine caught the afternoon plane for Oakland. She was on duty on this ship. Monte sat back in his passenger's seat, watching her. He was on duty on this ship. Monte sat back in his passenger's seat, watching her.

There was a tall, gangling Englishman in the crowd, chatting with his daughter, a pretty girl with blonde curls. A woman in black velvet walked silently. A smartly dressed young woman chatted in French with a simply dressed maid.

"Oh, those are skiers," she said. "That's Soda Springs. Do you like Soda?"
 "Sure!" But I thought California was all orange groves and sunshine.

Ted came down last, and stood there, watching the whole scene with a practiced eye. He seemed proud of the solid achievement in the air. He didn't want to leave the ship until the last detail of disembarkation was complete.

When he stood up beside her, laughing, she saw how tall and broad he was. She handed him his hat, and said, "I hope you enjoyed your trip, sir."

Ted had frequently said to the young, keen-eyed pilot under him: "There is no place, absolutely no place, for dreads of dreading in long distance flying over water."

Twenty minutes later she came out of the airport terminal, and there he was, sitting in the taxi-cab. He opened the door for her, and helped her in.

They saw the Mariner, winging her way across the Golden Gate, the sun rays glinting on misty hills and wings. It was to Kay a sight both fantastic and unreal. This plane, in the space of five days, had covered more than 10,000 miles.

It was a little dark before the Mariner reached Ship Harbor, and suddenly the lights were switched on in the 50 portholes. It looked as if a flying hotel were coming down out of the sky. They heard the roar of the four 600-horsepower motors as the Mariner glided down toward the water, still speckled with the glint of the parting sun.

The flying ship came to rest, settling down like a giant bird, and
